

HUNGER PROJECT (CLASS XII-B)

Coming to the school with a bag full of books and sometimes sports kits is perhaps something mainstream, however entering the school premises with Rice, Garam Masala, Coriander leaves and vegetables is what indulges and intrigues other people.

On the morning of 21 April, Saturday 7 students of class XII-B came for the hunger project. No, allow me to rephrase,

On the morning of 21 April, 7 students of class XII-B came to the school in the hope of doing something good and filling the stomachs of people who are deprived of something very essential for our survival, food.

After the prayer and running here and there, all of us along with our class teacher, Anupama Ma'am went to the kitchen to get started. With the help of Chandran Sir, and our collective efforts we were able to make some delicious Khichdi. It is also important to specify the amount of happiness and joy we were having while preparing the Khichdi as we knew that it would be put to good use and all of us would get blessings from people as well as the one up above. By 10 o'clock our Khichdi was ready to serve and we took the school bus and stopped at the AIIMS Metro station where there was a humungous crowd of people who were hungry, we asked them to form a queue and started serving the Khichdi to them.

Deeds of giving are the very foundations of the World and making someone smile by helping them is perhaps something which can fulfill our Karmic debts. The people who were overjoyed enjoyed the khichdi and told us that it was the best thing they ever had along with giving us their blessings. The Khichdi soon finished and as we were coming back, all of us had a satisfaction from ourselves as we were been able to help someone in need and experience the Joy of giving which cannot be equated with the mere happiness of going and watching a movie with friends.
