

HUNGER PROJECT OF CLASS XI-C

A national holiday and yet what determination! On the 18th of July, Saturday, Eid, a National holiday, the students of class XI C assembled early in the morning to initiate yet another hunger project. This time, another delicacy, we planned to prepare “Rajma-Chawal” for distribution and it was truly a huge success. We went to three different places, first to the AIIMS flyover region, to a place opposite Tyagraj Stadium and finally halted at the Prerna Home for the Homeless. Even though it was raining, we were astonished on seeing the excitement with which the people came for food and especially when it was their favourite dish. The AIIMS flyover was a good start. Near the Tyagraj Stadium, we distributed food not only to the poor but also to the police and other traffic incharge people. However, we couldn't distribute much because of traffic issues. Our food was mostly distributed in the Prerna Home for the Homeless, now known as the Rain Basera. With over 100 people, the team together distributed the food as fast as they could without worrying of the amount of rice or the curry given or even realising the shortage of bowls and spoons. With pure satisfaction in our eyes, we headed back to school where we filled our churning stomachs with all that was left.

It was truly an amazing day and surely worth sacrificing our sleep and holiday for.
