

HUNGER PROJECT

The children of class 8 C had successfully completed HUNGER PROJECT on 17th of October '15. The purpose of the project was to help maximum number of people in need by providing them healthy , delicious food and take a small step towards fulfilling our social responsibility. Firstly, the class was divided into different committees to organize the work and involve all children .

The committee were:

- 1) Money/ food items collection
- 2) Chopping and cooking
- 3) Distribution
- 4) Photography committee
- 5) Cleaning utensils committee.
- 6) Report writing committee

The money and food item collection committee started by understanding how much and what all is required. Lists were made and things required organized by two in days in advance. Cooking & chopping team started their work a day before by soaking white Chana and chopping onions , ginger etc. so that sir can help in preparing the masala a day in advance. It wasn't an easy job as while chopping the onions there was not a single eye which was dry.

Next day around 8'o clock the cooking committee started their work again. Making chole chawal for around a 100 people wasn't an easy job so, as the cooking committee finished their work .The children had to carry the chole in the buckets to wash them in the water cooler. After washing the chole was set on the stove for at least 4 to 5 whistles. Unfortunately , Chandran sir's hand got burnt while he was setting off the pressure cooker from the stove .But this did not affect Chandran sir's work, he didn't show his pain to the children because he knew if he did so then the children would loose all their hopes and wouldn't be able to prepare the food. After all this children didn't allow Chandran sir to do much work. Instead they tried to do as much work as they could with the instructions by our teachers.

After the chole got boiled it was poured in a large container on a bigger stove. After some time the aromatic tadka and the mouth-watering spices which would the enhance the rich flavours of the dish , were poured into the chole and was set on fire to cook for some time.(by the way ,we learnt that there is lots of science behind the whole process of cooking)

Meanwhile the soaked rice was set on to boil. After so many steps and so much of efforts the dish was ready to be served.

Now came the chance of the distribution team. The large utensils filled with delicious food were loaded onto the bus. It hardly took 15 minutes to reach destination, while distributing food along the footpaths. It gave such a humbling feeling while distributing the food that can't be expressed in words. The people in the dharamshala brought their utensils which they had to take the food with them. Many children were greatly moved by looking at the pathetic conditions some people were living in there.

After distribution we returned to school and the washing committee started washing the utensils.
